

The West Room: What's in a Study?

J. Pierpont Morgan designed a special room where he could go to read, play solitaire, and host friends. If you could design your own room for whatever you wanted, what would it look like? What materials would you use? What would you do in there? Who would you invite to visit?

Use the space below to sketch some of your ideas!

A large, empty rectangular area outlined in red, intended for sketching ideas for a study room.